Craig dons his fish-nets again

CRAIG McLachlan has pulled out his fish-net stockings from his Frank-N-Furter days for a good cause.

The former Neighbours heart-throb, who will next year star in The Doctor Blake Mysteries, has donned this skimpy outfit in support of the Unicorn Foundation's Nets for NETs Day on Friday.

Nets for NETs Day was created by the Unicorn Foundation to help raise awareness for neuroendocrine tumours (NETs) and asks people to simply wear a pair of fish-nets on Friday and visit www.everydayhero.com.au/event/netsformetsday to donate or register.

Apple founder Steve Jobs passed away from this cancer a year ago.
